CONCLUSION: Psychological Definitions of Religion I & II	S4
<ol> <li>Focus is on functional &amp; practical aspects of religion, not the truth value religion has a psychological component → don't be embarrassed, we are psychological beings it provides comfort, happiness &amp; meaning to life it meets the challenge of horrendous situations like suffering &amp; death</li> </ol>	S5 !
2. Modern psychology offers excellent DESCRIPTIVE work EG James Fowler, Stages of Faith: Psychology of Human Development &amp; Quest for Meaning SQ2 see if these categories apply to your faith/philosophical development	S6 S7
3. BE AWARE of dysteleological metaphysics CONFLATED into modern psychology 50% of US psychologists are atheists & 11 % are agnostic  N Gross & S Simmons, "Religiosity of American College & University Profess Sociology of Religion 70:2 (2009), 116	S8 sors"
SUGGESTION for religious & teleological people:  • Use the Metaphysics-Physics Principle in Psychology  SEPARATE DON'T CONFLATE:  dysteleological metaphysics & psychological sciences	S9
• INTEGRATE your metaphysics (eg, belief in reality of sin, guilt & forgiveness) with the psychological sciences to develop YOUR worldview on psychology	S10
EG Evolutionary Creation integrates the science of evolution & the metaphysics of creation
MORE IF GAMES  IF sin & guilt are SPIRITUAL REALTIES  THEN modern secular psychology is missing a valuable piece of information this would be like doing biology without evolutionary theory	S11

15. "The traditional conception of philosophy, which was dominant throughout the history	34 of Western thought, was that philosophy can investigate the content of our beliefs, including the truth or falsity of theological beliefs."
Michael Peterson, W.Hasker, B. Reichenbach & D. Basinger, Reason & Religious Belief (Oxford: U Press, 1991) 8

• The Ultimate Reality	S2
17. "This [Ultimate] Reality may be understood as a [1] unity	or plurality ,
[2] personal or non-personal, [3] divine or not, and [4]	so forth, differing from religion to religion."	Peterson, 4
COMMENTS:
WIDE range of Ultimate Realities, including the	ose that are:
[2] non-personal
[3] not divine
[4] so forth → WHATEVER!!!
Therefore: anything can be the Ultimate Reality
CONCLUSION: Peterson et al Philosophical Definition of Religion	S3
1. Very WIDE definition of religion
2. Asserts some religions are not true!
2. Assorts some rengions are not true.
Excursus: Criticisms of Philosophical Approaches to Religion	S4
• Problem of Impersonal Analysis of a Personal Faith	S5
some complain that critical analysis leads → impersonal God of the philosophers	33
not the living & personal God of religi	on
BUT not a substitute for religion or God instead an instrument to improve & strengthen your relationship with God EG marriage counselling
Problem of Fideism	S6
Fideism Latin fides : faith
DEF: religious truth rests ONLY on faith, not reason Therefore: religion cannot be analysed rationally aka the 'Just Believe' or 'Faith Only' Argument
■ IRONICALLY this is an ARGUMENT
fideism attempts to be RATIONAL!!! BUT Jesus commands Christians to think!	S7
18. "Love the Lord your God with all your heart and with all your soul and wi all your mind. This is the first and greatest commandment." Matt 22:37	·ui an your mina. This is the first and groatest communication. Man 22.57
Problem of Political Correctness	S8
a Post-Modern cultural value don't criticize or judge anyone's religion today practical importance → keeps the peace
BUT it leads to the death of thinking criticism is valuable!!!
my atheistic/agnostic critics are some of my best colleagues if my religious beliefs cannot stand criticism, then I get rid of them G0.
SUGGESTION:  • Openness—to all ideas. No idea unimportant	S9
in my class that means questioning & rejecting the existence of God
• Respect Critics—at all times no matter what is said
• Thicken—your own skin → theology is a contact sport!
• Select Critics Carefully—some people you just can't talk with
• Goal—to increase dialogue → get rid of the LUST to always be right

19. "Logic requires that religious trust can be either [1] well placed or [2] misplaced as can nonreligious trust , since beliefs about the divine are—as all other beliefs—either true or false but not both at once. It follows, therefore, that when two beliefs disagree about what is divine, one or both of them must be (at least partly) false."
Roy A. Clouser, Myth of Religious Neutrality (Notre Dame: U Press, COMMENTS:	, 1991) 34 S5

Religion 2 Episod
CONCLUSION: Clouser's Philosophical Definition of Religion	S2
1. Extremely WIDE definition of religion
ALL beliefs, including dysteleological beliefs, are religious
2. Many religions are FALSE	S3
24. "Although there are strong similarities among [religious] traditions of the same type, those which fall into different types [Pagan, Pantheist, Biblical] are hopelessly incompatible. Far from being different paths up the same mountain, they do not agree on which mountain to climb."
COMMENTS:
• challenges the common understanding of different religions	S4
they are NOT paths up the same mountain to the same God	51
• challenges the so-called "Problem" of Exclusivism	S5
today you can't make exclusive claims that you know "THE TRUTH
• challenges Relativism → Post Modern Cultural Value	S 6 truth is relative & everyone has their own "truth" everyone is "right" & no one is "wrong"
BUT recognize the Fallacy of Relativism	S7
ironically, relativism makes an exclusive TRUTH claim!!!
• it states that truth is relative
AND it excludes those who believe in absolute truths
SUGGESTION:	S8
since we can't help but make exclusive truth claims, consider Respectful Exclusivism → "Speak truth in love" Eph 4:15
IX. Conclusion: What is Religion?	50
