UofA's GIS Day 2007 Keynote Speaker is Dr. Michael Batty.

Dr. Michael Batty, a pioneer of both GIS research and education, is former Director of the NSF National Center for Geographic Information and Analysis (NCGIA) and current Director of the Centre for Advanced Spatial Analysis (CASA), University College London.

Dr. Batty's talk, "The Virtual City: 3D GIS, Web-Based Geography and Multimedia", focuses on the creation and applications of Virtual London, a large scale 3D iconic model of Greater London. Dr. Batty will also explore the innovative ways that this project is integrating popular technologies including Google Earth and Second Life to open the door to outside user experimentation with Virtual London, and will discuss how these endeavors may facilitate both public and professional engagement in urban planning and design.
