

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Scott Taylor, a former soldier, is the editor and publisher of Esprit de Corps, an Ottawa-based magazine celebrated for its unflinching scrutiny of the Canadian military. Research for this book was compiled first-hand from inside Yugoslavia and Macedonia following NATO's occupation of Kosovo. Taylor appears regularly in the Canadian media as a military analyst, and is the recipient of the 1996 Quill Award and the Alexander MacKenzie Award for journalistic excellence. A columnist for the Halifax Herald and the host of Situation Report, Taylor has been a contributor to Macleans, the Globe and Mail, The Financial Post, Media Magazine, Reader's Digest and the Ottawa Citizen.

ESPRIT DE CORPS BOOKS presents...

THE VIOLENT AFTERMATH OF THE KOSOVO CONFLICT

Diary of an

UN CIVIL WAR

Award-winning Canadian journalist
Scott Taylor,
author of INAT:

Images of Serbia and the Kosovo Conflict, continues the tragic story of the Balkans.

The June 1999 entry of NATO troops was hailed as the "Liberation of Kosovo" by the western media – most of whom promptly packed up and headed home from the Balkans. These declarations of victory were naive and premature given the Alliance's stated objectives of deposing Yugoslav President Slobodan Milosevic and creating a safe multi-ethnic environment in Kosovo.

Rather than ending the civil strife, NATO's intervention set in motion a series of events that would have violent repercussions throughout Serbia, Kosovo and Macedonia over the next two years.

This book is presented as a compilation of Scott Taylor's first-hand observations and news reports, and consists primarily of eyewitness observations and interviews with the people and players who are shaping the future of this land.
