This Wildland Fire Behaviour Specialist Course (WFBC) is the final stage in the national fire behaviour training module. The WFBC training is oriented towards providing students with an in-depth knowledge of fire behaviour and proficiency in the use of both the Canadian Forest Fire Weather Index (FWI) System and the Canadian Forest Fire Behaviour Prediction (FBP) System. Such skills will enable the student to better plan for the occurrence or management of wild and; or prescribed fires on the landscape.

The target audience/application for the WFBC includes, but is not limited to:

- Wildfire management
- Fire Behaviour Analyst (FBAN)
- Prescribed fire planning
- Prescribed fire delivery
- FireSmart planning
- Fuel management planning
- Long Term Fire Behaviour Analyst (LTAN)
- Duty Officer/Zone Managers
- Fire research
- Fire investigations (cause and safety/accident)
- Fire Behaviour Service Centers
- Education – Knowledge base
- Fire Weather Meteorologist
